

A Donor Bill of Rights

Philanthropy is based on voluntary action for the common good. It is a tradition of giving and sharing that is primary to the quality of life. To ensure that philanthropy merits the respect and trust of the general public, and that donors and prospective donors can have full confidence in the not-for-profit organizations and causes they are asked to support, we declare that all donors have these rights:

I. To be informed of the organization's mission of the way the organization intends to use donated resources, and of its capacity to use donations effectively for their intended purposes. II. To be informed of the identity of those serving on the organization's governing board, and to expect the board to exercise prudent judgment in its stewardship responsibilities. III. To have access to the organization's most recent financial statements. IV. To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given. V. To receive appropriate acknowledgement and recognition.	VI. To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by law. VII. To expect that all relationships with individuals representing organizations of interest to the donor will be professional in nature. VIII. To be informed whether those seeking donations are volunteers, employees of the organizations or hired solicitors. IX. To have the opportunity for their names to be deleted from mailing lists that an organization may intend to share. X. To feel free to ask questions when making a donation and to receive prompt, truthful and forthright answers.
--	---

Rogue Valley Habitat for Humanity Donor Privacy Policy

Habitat for Humanity Rogue Valley is committed to respecting the privacy of donors and online visitors and pledges its best efforts to that end. It will not sell, trade, or share a donor's personal information with anyone else, nor send donor mailings on behalf of other organizations. In general, you can visit Habitat for Humanity Rogue Valley on the web without telling us who you are or revealing anything about yourself.

If you choose to provide personally identifiable data, you may receive future information from us—by mail, electronically or by telephone—advising you of upcoming Habitat for Humanity Rogue Valley events, services, new products, or volunteer and support opportunities. If you do not wish to be contacted with such information, please let us know by writing, calling or sending an email to the Habitat for Humanity Rogue Valley office. We do not share or sell personally identifiable data to other reputable organizations and it is kept completely confidential.

